1. Company Overview

Mineware Consulting (Pty) Limited is a specialist mining software and consulting firm with offices in Lanseria, Johannesburg and Stellenbosch, Western Cape. We currently employ 165 dedicated professionals and hold a Level 4 BEE rating. Celebrating 30 years of operation in 2026, Mineware has built a lasting reputation as a trusted partner to South Africa's leading mining houses. In 2026, Mineware was recently acquired by Datamine, a global leader in mining software, further strengthening our capability and international footprint.

Mineware has deliberately aligned itself with the international trend toward speciality companies — small, focused units of excellence that deliver dedicated, expert service. This focused model allows us to provide top-quality solutions at highly competitive rates, without the overhead and inefficiencies associated with large, generalist organisations.

Our team consists of skilled analysts, developers, and consultants who are hands-on with every engagement. We maintain only three administrative staff members for back-office functions. Every other member of our team is a qualified technical professional — meaning our clients deal directly with the people who build and support the products.

2. What Sets Us Apart

- Direct access to technical experts — no call centres, account managers, or layers of administration
- Deep specialisation in mining software — not a generalist IT provider
- Cost-effective delivery through a lean, focused team structure
- Proven track record across South Africa's leading mining houses
- Comprehensive after-sales support — we take full ownership of every client issue
- Agile and responsive — decisions are made quickly without corporate red tape
