

GMG-SAIMM IN-PERSON FORUM

Exploring the future of mining through innovation and sustainability

12-13 MARCH 2025

54 ON BATH, ROSEBANK
JOHANNESBURG
SOUTH AFRICA

What does it take to open mindsets to embrace innovation and alternative solutions in mining? How do we ensure our workforce (now and tomorrow) is the best it can be? Why do we allow for even one person to not feel safe in our industry? To achieve the global vision of a safe, sustainable and productive mining industry of tomorrow will require a cultural shift across the industry – safety culture, innovation culture, change management, diversity and inclusion and more. Culture is the core element that will define success.

This in-person forum will delve into the industry's top priority areas common to most mining operations today, through the lenses of operations, maintenance and safety. We will hear case studies and demonstrations from innovators, implementers and operators, peers will share experiences and expertise to define opportunities, and together we look across and outside the mining industry for new ways to better how we mine. This interactive forum features workshops, open discussion sessions, and presentations. The focus is on sharing knowledge of what is actually working in our mines and what is coming down the pipeline, as well as building relationships and collaborating with peers.

TOPICS COVERED WILL INCLUDE:

- Decarbonization and energy management
- Safety
- Operational best practices
- Getting the best use out of our data
- Integration and interoperability
- Autonomous mining
- Cybersecurity
